ABOUT ME

I am applying for this job because coding and programming is my passion. My first contact with coding was while I was still in junior high school. But my real adventure began in 2019. In this time, I was able to enroll in a course of basic programming sponsored by Deutsche Telekom. I learned to use HTML, CSS and JavaScript there. After receiving the certificates, I also obtained open access to the training platform on which I continue to develop my knowledge. In the meantime, I also became interested in React, Python and C #. My goal is to get a job as a Junior-developer and develop my skills in this direction.

My work so far has proved that I am a great Team-player and that I always achieve my goals.
